• DO ALICANTE / 15% / 70% GRENACHE TINTORERA, 20% CABERNET SAUVIGNON, 10% MONASTRELL

Very complex, with intense notes of ripe black fruit intertwined with subtle spices, touches of dark chocolate and dried fruits. Juicy, with very present fruit and liquorous and balsamic notes. Long and elegant finish.

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

The classic profile of Cabernet Sauvignon tends to be full-bodied wines with high tannins and noticeable acidity that contributes to the wine's aging potential. In cooler climates, Cabernet Sauvignon tends to produce wines with blackcurrant notes that can be accompanied by green bell pepper notes, mint and cedar which will all become more pronounced as the wine ages. In more moderate climates the black currant notes are often seen with black cherry and black olive notes while in very hot climates the currant flavours can veer towards the over-ripe and "jammy" side.

2019

• ALICANTE / 14% / CABERNET SAUVIGNON, MERLOT AND SYRAH

High layer wine. Intense ruby red color with tile flashes acquired during its aging. In the olfactory phase it is very mineral, with hints of graphite, humus, black stones and freshly tilled earth, these mineral aromas are finely intertwined with spicy, balsamic and floral notes such as violet. On the palate it is a very balanced wine, combining power and elegance with a firm tannic load in the center of the mouth, without concentrations or aggressiveness. The aftertaste is wide and harmonious.

GARNACHA

Garnacha is one of the most widely planted red wine grape varieties in the world. It ripens late, so it needs hot, dry conditions such as those found in Spain, where the grape most likely originated. It is also grown in the Italian island of Sardinia, the south of France, Australia, and California's Monterey AVA and San Joaquin Valley. It is generally spicy, berry-flavoured and soft on the palate and produces wine with a relatively high alcohol content, but it needs careful control of yields for best results. Characteristic flavour profiles on Grenache include red fruit flavours (raspberry and strawberry) with a subtle, white pepper spice notes.

MONASTRELL

Mourvedre (Monastrell in its native Spain, Mataro in Australia and California) is a black-skinned variety that has been grown in vineyards all around the western Mediterranean for centuries. Thought to have originated in Spain, it is now grown extensively throughout the Iberian Peninsula, southern France, California and South Australia. Mourvedre likes warm, dry climates and has small, thick-skinned berries – the textbook combination for making wines with intense color and high tannin levels. In fact, it is the variety's mouth-drying tannins that earned it the French nickname Etrangle-Chien (the dog strangler). Mourvedre's meaty, herby and strong tannin

PETIT VERDOT

Petit Verdot is a red wine grape whose small, thick-skinned berries are valued for their depth of color. Traditionally, the variety played a small role in the classic blends of Bordeaux. However, varietal Petit Verdot has now appeared in many regions of southern Europe, the Americas and Australia. Petit Verdot has a less well known but larger-berried cousin, Gros Verdot. Verdot roughly translates as "green one" and reflects the variety's propensity to under ripeness. Therefore, in cool seasons Petit Verdot vines produce bunches speckled with green, unripened berries. Petit Verdot wines tend to have a dense, violet-black appearance.

TEMPRANILLO

Tempranillo is a red grape variety which forms the backbone of some of the finest wines from Spain and Portugal. It has also been successfully adopted in the New World, especially in California, Argentina and Australia. In 2020, Tempranillo was the third most planted grape variety in the world. The most searched-for Tempranillo wine on our list is Vega Sicilia Unico Gran Reserva. Tempranillo has strong roots in Spain where it translates to "little early one", a name given to it by growers who observed its habit of ripening earlier than Garnacha (Grenache), its traditional Spanish blending partner and a majority of most other Spanish red grape varieties

Very intense cherry color, deep, almost opaque. Very penetrating and highly complex aromas. Note the notes of red fruit intermingled with white flowers and, especially, violet aromas, typical of this high-altitude variety. Sweet, minty, pepper, and low forest touches are also appreciated. Mature wine, with natural elegance, spacious, powerful, with round and enveloping tannins, perfectly integrated.

PUNTO GEODESICO · TRUS, 2018 ... 250ml 15⁰⁰ / Bottle 40⁵⁰

• RIBERA DEL DUERO / 14.5% / 100% TEMPRANILLO

This wine comes from vineyards located in geodesic stations in Ribera del Duero (La Aguilera, Baños de Valdearados, Peñaranda, Moradillo de Roa —all of them villages in the province of Burgos). They form a catalogue of soils with different compositions, ranging from the calcareous soils of Baños to the gravelly soils of Moradillo or the pale white sands of Peñaranda and the silts and sands of La Aguilera. The wine is a complex red, full of nuances, mineral, vertical, with good acidity and powerful tannins

LAN A MANO - EDICION LIMITADA · LAN, 2017 ... 250ml 15⁵⁰ / Bottle 42⁰⁰

• DO RIOJA / 14% / 85% TEMPRANILLO, 10% GRACIANO & 5% MAZUELO

Ripe cherry red, very deeply coloured and bright. Very intense aromas of ripe, almost candied black fruit (plum, blackberry, blackcurrant.) Notes of cocoa and toffee, black tobacco and spices, as well as a mineral streak, a common characteristic in all wines from the Viña Lanciano estate. Warm and velvety on the palate. It is round, ripe, with a very tannic yet elegant profile. A long, harmonious finish.

TORRE MUGA RESERVA · MUGA, 2016

... 250ml 44⁰⁰ / Bottle 127⁵⁰

• DOCA RIOJA / 14% / 75% TEMPRANILLO, 15% MAZUELA, 10% GRACIANO

It is a wine that expresses sweet tooth first, but its acidity makes it remain alive throughout its expression in the mouth. It is a powerful and balanced wine with a present but well tamed tannin. Garnet red color with bluish reflections, clean and bright. It is a complex wine where we can appreciate sweet red and black fruit, spicy notes of cloves, black pepper and some sweet vanilla. When the wine opens, aromas of balsamic, toasted and some hint of undergrowth flow through.

SYRAH

Syrah is a dark-skinned red wine grape. Its origins have been popularly debated, but its modern viticultural home is unquestionably the northern Rhône Valley of eastern France. In Australia, Syrah is the flagship variety and has developed such a distinct personality that it is essentially regarded as a distinct variety, is overwhelmingly (but not exclusively) known as Shiraz. Syrah has proved successful around the world; wines are produced in many styles and display myriad dark-fruit flavors. Varietal Syrah can be quite floral in its youth, developing white and black pepper aromas and herbaceous notes as it ages.

... 250ml 11⁶⁰ / Bottle 30⁵⁰

• RONDA / 13.5% / SYRAH 65% - MERLOT 35%

This young wine present medium- deep intensity, it has dense purple color as well as lots of brier and dark berry deep ruby-red, with a wonderful display of rich aromas. Black fruit aromas reminiscent of blueberries and blackberries, white flowers and small notes of black pepper. Perfect texture, weight feel and unctuous in mouth and very good balance in acidity, fresh and very fruity, really easy to drink.

CHIANTI

Chianti is not the name of a grape but of a wine-producing region in Tuscany, Italy. The main grape used to make Chianti wine is called Sangiovese. It derives its name from the Latin 'sanguis jovis' which means the blood of Jove or Jupiter. Sangiovese is an indigenous Italian grape variety and by far the most widely planted red grape in Italy. By law a wine can only be called Chianti if it is a) produced in the Chianti region and b) made with at least 80 percent Sangiovese grapes. Most Chiantis are made with 100 percent Sangiovese. However, some producers blend in other varieties such as a little Merlot or Syrah. Or, Cabernet Sauvignon.

• DOCG CHIANTI RUFINA, ITALY / 13.5% / 85% SANGIOVESE, MALVASIA NERA, COLORINO, MERLOT, CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Its bouquet is characterized by fruity aromas such as blackberry, blueberry and cherry, followed by herbal notes as well as vanilla and cinnamon. On the palate it is harmonious with soft tannins. In the finish, balsamic notes of black pepper and cocoa.

BOBAL

The name (pronounced 'bow-bal') comes from the Latin, 'bovale' meaning 'in the shape of a bull's head'. This reflects the fact that the Bobal grape cluster is tightly packed in a very distinctive shape, which could indeed be said to look similar to a bovine head. Bobal is a child of the Levant, its homestead the western Mediterranean DOs of Ribera del Júcar, Manchuela and, most significantly, Utiel-Requena, where it flourishes on hillsides of up to 900m, located 70km inland from the sea. The altitude of this DO makes it the coolest of the Levant regions and lends a structure to its wines, which is well suited to this globally warming world.

The palate has a generous mouthfeel with a salty minerality and a clean fresh finish.

CHARDONNAY

Chardonnay is the world's most famous white-wine grape and also one of the most widely planted. Describing the flavors of Chardonnay is not easy.

While many Chardonnay wines have high aromatic complexity, this is usually due to winemaking techniques (particularly the use of oak) rather than the variety's intrinsic qualities. Malolactic fermentation gives distinctive buttery aromas. Fermentation and/or maturation in oak barrels contributes notes of vanilla, smoke and hints of sweet spices such as clove and cinnamon. Extended lees contact while in barrel imparts biscuity, doughy flavors.

ALBARINO

Albariño (Alvarinho) is a green-skinned grape variety native to Galicia on the north Atlantic coast of Spain. It is best known as being the key grape variety in the Rias Baixas DO, where it makes crisp but often well-textured white wines with peach, citrus and mineral characters that pair perfectly with the local seafood. The variety is often made into a lightly sparkling Vinho Verde wine in Portugal, which is commonly labeled varietally to distinguish it from the usual Louriero-based Vinho Verde blend. Here, the variety is known as Alvarinho

GARNACHA BLANCA

Grenache Blanc (Garnacha Blanca in Spain) is the light-skinned mutation of Grenache Noir. Although it is native to northeastern Spain, Grenache Blanc is best known for its role in southern French white wines and in particular as a member of the Châteauneuf-du-Pape blend. The light-golden, straw-colored juice of Grenache Blanc is increasingly produced as a varietal wine, though its use as a softener in a blend is still more common. It typically displays green apple and stonefruit aromas and a broad texture.

SAUVIGNON BLANC

Sauvignon Blanc is a white-wine grape from western France, now successfully grown in emerging and established wine regions all over the world. While the grape may be more readily associated with the Loire Valley (for its pivotal role in Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé), it is more likely to have originated from Bordeaux, where it is typically blended with Semillon. The key selling point of Sauvignon Blanc is its straightforwardness – the flavors are rarely hidden away in the background. Also, there is a particularly close correlation between the perceived flavors and their descriptors.

RIESLING

Riesling is a light-skinned, aromatic grape of German origin which is – if the majority of top wine critics are to be believed – the world's finest white wine grape variety. For many, the claim above may seem at odds with the sea of chaptalized, low-quality wine exported from Germany in the late 20th Century. In truth, very little of that infamous wine was Riesling at all, but instead higher-yielding grapes such as Müller-Thurgau and Silvaner), but the reputation has nonetheless stuck. Riesling has also been stereotyped as just a sweet grape, used only to make sticky wines. Try a Riesling and you'll see this is simply not true.

... 250ml 8¹⁰ / Bottle 20⁰⁰

DOMAINE ME LA VILLE DE COLMAR, 2018

• ALSACE, FRANCE / 12% / 100% Riesling

With manual harvesting and low yield per hectare, this The wine is lemon yellow in color, on the nose it is intense, mineral and fruity with citric notes and on the palate we can perceive lively, balanced and citrus notes.

GODELLO

The history of Godello is somewhat unclear. The first official written reference to it came in 1531 when it was cited under the names of Agudelho and Trincadente in the Douro. Godello had a close brush with extinction in the 20th Century, with only a few hundred of its vines remaining by the 1970s. Thanks to a project to rescue this grape variety led by Horacio Fernández and Luis Hidalgos, there are now more than 1000 hectares (2471 acres) of Godello vines in its supposed native home of Galicia.

LOCAL NEW CARDENAL ÁLVAREZ DULCE · CASA SICILIA 100ML 5.50

Alicante / 11% / Monastrell, Cabernet Sauvignon and Petit Verdot.

* Medium-high layer of cherry red color with a slightly more evolved meniscus. The first nose surprises with its intense notes of raisins, figs, cocoa, toasted almonds, to give way to aromas of tomatoes, bitter orange and fig bread. On the palate, this sweet red has a very sweet entry, a very interesting volume, dense and well balanced without being cloying. At the end of the mouth, the powerful tannic structure combined with subtle toasted aromas offers our palate exclusive sensations.
