Brasserie d'Achouffe Mc Chouffe

Belgian Strong Dark Ale / 8% ABV / 20 IBU / Houffalize, Région Wallonne
Among the mythical characters living in Fairyland, some are more unusual than others. Malcolm, for example, is different because of his accent and his kilt: when it comes to beer, his favourite is Mc CHOUFFE. The delicious flavours of aniseed, liquorice and toffee tickle his taste buds. If you listen to him, he will boast of its ruby sparkle, its smooth bitterness and its strong character, worthy of his native Scotland. Although robust, Mc CHOUFFE goes...

Brasserie d'Achouffe Houblon Chouffe

IPA - Belgian / 9% ABV / 47 IBU / Houffalize, Région Wallonne
The gnomes of Fairyland may be little, but they have big, very big, personalities. HOUBLON CHOUFFE matches their impish spirits. All gnomes, with their innate good taste, are in full agreement about HOUBLON CHOUFFE, which is flavoured by three different types of hops. This India Pale Ale is appreciated for its pronounced bitterness combined with the fruity tones of traditional Achouffe beers: it softens the strongest of characters.

Basqueland ESB

Bottle €4.50

Bitter - Extra Special / 4.6% ABV / Hernani, Euskadi

We brewed a traditional English style using Maris Otter as base malt, and a touch of Cristal T50 and DRC and fermented with English ale yeast, to which we have given the house touch with a light Bramling Cross dry-hop. Aromas of blackberry, prune and black currant. Light but at the same time tasty and balanced with just the right bitterness to drink it by the pint.

GROSS Capibara

Can €6.00

IPA - Session / 5% ABV / San Sebastian, Euskadi

A New England IPA, a beer with a hazy appearance made with the best malt and oat flakes but with less alcohol content. An invitation to immerse yourself in a world of intense flavors and unique textures. Each sip is a celebration of brewing innovation, offering an unforgettable sensory experience.

Garage Beer ACCIDENTAL VORTEX

Can €6.20

Pilsner - Other / 5.4% ABV / Barcelona, Catalunya

ACCIDENTAL VORTEX is our second West Coast Pils. This is one lean, mean hoppy machine that really highlights three stalwart hops of the American IPA revolution; Centennial, Amarillo and Cascade. We wanted an easy drinking hop bomb that is big on citrus and pine notes and this delivers just that. The three aforementioned hops bring grapefruit, tangerine, pine and plenty of floral notes too. This was brewed like a German Pils in all aspects apart from hopping: Soft water, high...

Basqueland Zumo

Can €7.00

IPA - New England / 6% ABV / 20 IBU / Hernani, Euskadi

Freshly squeezed juicy IPA with a ton of tropical aromas thanks to a generous amount of Mosaic, Citra, El Dorado hops.

Basqueland Gilda

Can €7.00

IPA - New England / 6.1% ABV / Hernani, Euskadi

Who would fancy a Basqueland Gilda? Instead of the usual pickle peppers, anchovies, and olives, we've threaded Mosaic, Cashmere, Citra, and Ekuanot hops into this IPA. This Gilda is a hoppy delight with flavors of peach, cantaloupe, red fruits, and a refreshing, slightly bitter citrus finish. It features a blend of malts with barley, oats, and wheat, giving it a smooth sensation. A sip of cinematic proportions!

Cervesa Espiga Endless Journey

Can €7.50

West Coast IPA / 6.7% ABV / 45 IBU / Sant Llorenç d'Hortons, Catalunya

Golden and crystalline appearance accompanied by a generous crown of persistent white foam. In aroma and flavor we find notes of grapefruit, ripe pineapple and citrus notes. Herbaceous and resinous touches that intertwine with a subtle touch of caramelized malt. It has a medium body and its perfectly adjusted carbonation provides a refreshing and lively sensation on the palate. The finish is long and rewarding, leaving a slight resinous bitterness and a slight fruity persistence that invites you to discover...

Cervesa Espiga Don't Disturb

Can €7.50

IPA - American / 7% ABV / Sant Llorenç d'Hortons, Catalunya

A light amber beer with a translucent appearance. In aroma, it combines intense notes of various types of fruits such as peach, pineapple and mango that rest on a citrus and herbal base. The combination of the Zeus, Centennial, Simcoe and Idaho 7 hops makes the tropical fruit, herbal, citrus notes and all the black tea notes stand out and power each of them. In taste, we can appreciate all these notes of fruits accompanied by a base of crispy...

Funky Fluid Triple Gelato: Bakewell Tart

Can €9.00

Sour - Smoothie / 9% ABV / Warszawa, Mazowieckie

A sweet & sour beer inspired by the English Bakewell Tart, that we were gorging on during our trip to Manchester, and the visit to Pomona Island. Chock-full of raspberries, cherries, strawberries, vanilla & almonds.

LAST ONES !

A lot of craft breweries do single batches - perhaps 500 cans/bottles at a time, before moving onto a different type. This means that once these are gone, that's it! No more to be had Very limited stock! They may already be gone by the time you read this - but worth asking us to check if we still have one left.. and if we do, you'll get 20% off the price listed here.

ALES

Ales are brewed using yeast that tends to flocculate or gather toward the top of the fermentation tank during the brewing process. This is the primary difference between an ale and a lager because lagers use a bottom-fermenting yeast that produces that crisper flavor in the final brew. These top-fermenting yeasts used to produce ales also prefer warmer temperatures. The range will vary, generally between 60 to 72 F (15 to 22 C). Lager yeasts react best at temperatures 20 degrees colder than that. While most beers do not require aging, ales are even better when they are either unaged or aged for a very short time. If any aging is done to an ale, it is usually no more than a few weeks.

Sharp's Doom Bar

500ml Bottle €5.20

Bitter - Session / 4% ABV / 20 IBU / Rock, Cornwall

Takeaway €5.00

Doom Bar is inspired by its namesake, the treacherous sandbank at the mouth of the Camel Estuary near Sharps' home at Rock. Accomplished and precise, Doom Bar is the epitome of consistency, balance and moreish appeal and is now the UK's no.1 selling cask beer. An enticing aroma of resinous hop, sweet malt and delicate roasted notes. The mouth feel is a balanced, complex blend of succulent dried fruit, lightly roasted malt and a subtle yet assertive bitterness. The finish is...

SESSION ALES

Session beer is not defined by flavors or aromas, which can place it in almost any style category. Instead, what makes a session beer is primarily refreshment and drinkability. Any style of beer can be made lower in strength than described in the classic style guidelines. The goal should be to reach a balance between the style's character and the lower alcohol content. Drinkability is a factor in the overall balance of these beers. Beer should not exceed 5 percent ABV.

BELGIUM

Belgian brewers often supplement the balance of malt sweetness and hop bitterness you find in every beer with fruity, spicy, floral and herbal aromas. Some Belgian beers are like running through a hayfield at harvest and others explode with a whole orchard of fruit flavours. You can sometimes find earthiness, a savoury, mushroomy umami taste, and you can sometimes find sourness, ranging from a light tartness to a mouth-puckering acidity. There can be subtle flowery aromas from hops, hints of cardamom or chamomile, and perfumey alcohol aromas that smell like rose petals. You can find those same toasty or caramelly flavours you'll get from English beers, but they might be accompanied by a distinct aroma of dates and spices that transports you to a Levantine bazaar. Most importantly, when it's done properly the flavours are harmoniously balanced

This Duvel is mild, expressive and deliciously drinkable. No fewer than 6 different hop varieties are used for Duvel 6,66%: just like the classic Duvel, it's based on the noble and exclusive hop varieties Saaz and Styrian Golding. The flavour is then balanced by adding four expertly selected hop varieties to the mix, which also involves the dry-hopping method.

Belgian brewers often supplement the balance of malt sweetness and hop bitterness you find in every beer with fruity, spicy, floral and herbal aromas. Some Belgian beers are like running through a hayfield at harvest and others explode with a whole orchard of fruit flavours. You can sometimes find earthiness, a savoury, mushroomy umami taste, and you can sometimes find sourness, ranging from a light tartness to a mouth-puckering acidity. There can be subtle flowery aromas from hops, hints of cardamom or chamomile, and perfumey alcohol aromas that smell like rose petals. You can find those same toasty or caramelly flavours you'll get from English beers, but they might be accompanied by a distinct aroma of dates and spices that transports you to a Levantine bazaar. Most importantly, when it's done properly the flavours are harmoniously balanced

Bières de Chimay Chimay Première (Red)

330ml Bottle €3.90

Belgian Dubbel / 7% ABV / 19 IBU / Chimay, Région Wallonne

First sold in 75 cl (25.4 fl.oz.) bottles, it is noted for its copper color and as the first beer brewed by the monks of Chimay in 1862. Topped with a creamy head, it gives off a light, fruity apricot aroma produced by the fermentation. The taste perceived in the mouth is a balance confirming the fruity nuances noticed in the fragrance. Its taste, which imparts a silky sensation to the tongue, is made refreshing by a light touch of bitterness....

Brouwerij Bosteels Tripel Karmeliet

330ml Bottle €3.80

Belgian Tripel / 8.4% ABV / 16 IBU / Buggenhout, Vlaanderen

Tripel Karmeliet is still brewed to an authentic beer recipe from 1679 originating in the former Carmelite monastery in Dendermonde. Written over 300 years ago, this recipe describes the use of three kinds of grain: wheat, oats and barley. The name Tripel karmeliet thus refers both to its origin and its in-bottle refermentation. From many trial brews of multigrain tripels carried out at our brewery in the 90s, it appears that the particular historic combination of the 3 kinds of grain...

STOUTS

Stout is a dark, top-fermented beer with a number of variations, including dry stout, oatmeal stout, milk stout, and imperial stout. The first known use of the word stout for beer, in a document dated 1677 found in the Egerton Manuscripts, referred to its strength. The name porter was first used in 1721 to describe a dark brown beer that had been made with roasted malts. Because of the huge popularity of porters, brewers made them in a variety of strengths. The stronger beers, typically 7% or 8% alcohol by volume (ABV), were called "stout porters", so the history and development of stout and porter are intertwined, and the term stout has become firmly associated with dark beer, rather than just strong beer.

Basqueland Boyicao

Can €8.50

Stout - Imperial / 12.5% ABV / Hernani, Euskadi

Evoking the flavor of nostalgia using Extra Pale malts, chocolate malts, and caramelized malts.

Additionally, we add cocoa powder during the boiling phase to create the first layer of flavor. We finish it off by adding more chocolate and hazelnuts—a sweet, dense, and flavorful delight.

RYE IPA

In darker versions, malt flavor can optionally include low roasted malt characters (evident as cocoa/chocolate or caramel) and/or aromatic toffee-like, caramel, or biscuit-like characters. Low-level roasted malt astringency is acceptable when balanced with low to medium malt sweetness. Hop flavor is low to medium-high. Hop bitterness is low to medium. These beers can be made using either ale or lager yeast. The addition of rye to a beer can add a spicy or pumpernickel character to the flavor and finish. Color can also be enhanced and may become more red from the use of rye. The ingredient has come into vogue in recent years in everything from stouts to lagers, but is especially popular with craft brewers in India pale ales. To be considered an example of the style, the grain bill should include sufficient rye such that rye character is evident in the beer.

BERLINER WEISSE / SOURS / FRUITED

Low in alcohol, refreshingly tart, and often served with a flavored syrup like Woodruff or raspberry, the Berliner-style Weisse presents a harmony between yeast and lactic acid. These beers are very pale in color, and may be cloudy as they are often unfiltered. Hops are not a feature of this style, but these beers often do showcase esters. Traditional versions often showcase Brettanomyces yeast. Growing in popularity in the U.S., where many brewers are now adding traditional and exotic fruits to the recipe, resulting in flavorful finishes with striking, colorful hues. These beers are incredible when pairing. Bitterness, alcohol and residual sugar are very low, allowing the beer's acidity, white bread and graham cracker malt flavors to shine. Carbonation is very high, adding to the refreshment factor this style delivers. Many examples of this style contain no hops and thus no bitterness at all.

LAMBICS

Lambic beer is brewed with spontaneous fermentation. It's a style of Belgian ale that doesn't rely on carefully selected yeast added by the brewer. Instead, the wort is left in open tanks to invite the region's microorganisms into the sugary feast. The result is a wild, funky, sour beer that varies wildly from batch to batch. Fruit lambics such as kriek and framboise are also produced, and gueuze is a blended lambic often called the "Champagne of Brussels." To drink a well-brewed lambic is not just to taste a great beer but to peer back into the history of brewing.

WHEAT BEERS

Wheat beer is a category of beer originating in Bavaria. It is typically a top-fermented ale, uses at least 30 percent wheat in the brewing process, and comes in a variety of styles. The most widely known wheat beer is hefeweizen, a refreshing style from Germany that's popular around the world. Wheat beers are typically light in color, low to medium in alcohol content, and can be cloudy or clear in appearance. They may be brewed with or without hops, depending on the variety, and tend to lack bitterness, making them easy drinkers.

Erdinger Weissbräu Erdinger Weißbier / Hefe-Weizen

Bottle €4.00

Wheat Beer - Hefeweizen / 5.3% ABV / 13 IBU / Erding, Bayern

The Premium Weissbier at the top of its class. Not only in the context of the Erdinger assortment Erdinger Weissbier with fine yeast applies undisputed as the classical authors, as the white beer absolutely. It is brewed with fine yeast after a delivered prescription and naturally strictly after the Bavarian purity requirement. Today still without the traditional bottle fermentation one does not do here: Three to four weeks it lasts, until the Erdinger Weissbier with fine yeast matured. For the...

Basqueland Leichte Baskenweisse

Can €5.60

Wheat Beer - Hefeweizen Light / 4.5% ABV / Hernani, Euskadi

Building upon the original Weissbier recipe, we've crafted a unique beer by incorporating oat and Eraclea barley malt alongside the typical wheat, imparting added smoothness and a more refreshing profile. With its hazy, pale appearance, this beer showcases the flavors and aromas resulting from the interaction of traditional yeast and modern Citra hops, offering hints of banana and clove, accompanied by a pleasantly surprising bitter citrus profile and a subtle tropical touch.

RADLERS

What's a radler? Close cousin to the shandy (a style then tends to be a bit more beer-forward and higher in alcohol), radlers are traditionally an equal mixture of lager and carbonated citrus soda, and typically clock in somewhere near 3.0% ABV. The word radler is German for "cyclist." And the style's origin story holds that, back in the 1920s, a Munich barman named Franz Kugler was struggling to serve all the bikers stopping into his place for a mid-ride beer. Kugler started mixing lager with lemon soda in order to keep pace with demand, and the radler was born.

LA SAGRA LA SAGRA Radler

Bottle €3.10

Shandy / 2.6% ABV / 8 IBU / Numancia de la Sagra, Castilla-La Mancha

Low-alcohol beer, soft and light, with the creamy and cloudy body typical of wheat beers. Citric and refreshing taste due to the addition of lemonade and coriander seeds.

CIDER, MEADS AND BARLEY WINE

Meads of the moment are carbonated and may be dry, semi-dry or sweet. Cider is a fermented drink made from unfiltered apple juice. The correct term is hard cider, as opposed to non-alcoholic cider. Hard ciders range from dry to sweet, but always with a tang. Barleywines are very much beers, made of sugars extracted from grains. So why call them "wines?" The style earned its name based on these beers' strength and complexity – two things that definitely show similarities to wine.

DouGall's IPA4

IPA - American / 6.4% ABV / 60 IBU / Liérganes, Cantabria

Cerveza rubia de sabores y aromas que evocan melón y cítricos, construida a base de malta pálida y una generosa aportación de lúpulo en el dry hopping. La IPA4 es muy fresca y tiene poco cuerpo, lo que permite un trago largo. Notaremos un final seco con un moderado amargor. Maltas: Extra Pale, Cara Gold, trigo torrefacto. Lúpulos: Columbus, Cascade, Mosaic, Ekuanot. Levadura: Ale. SIN GLUTEN.

DouGall's IPA9

IPA - American / 6.5% ABV / 60 IBU / Liérganes, Cantabria

De color anaranjado, muy turbia y con gasificación moderada. En nariz destacan aromas cítricos. En boca el protagonista es el pomelo y aparece alguna nota tenue de melocotón y mango. Todo equilibrado sobre una base maltosa, no excesivamente densa pero con el tacto sedoso que aporta la avena. El regusto final puede sorprender porque al contrario que el trago, es amargo y duradero. Maltas: Maris Otter, Extra Pale, copos de avena, trigo torrefacto. Lúpulos: Magnum, Simcoe, Citra, Chinook, Amarillo, Mosaic. Levadura: Ale. DOUBLE DRY...
